FIRE AT THE STOCKING FACTORY. Shortly before 9 o'clock Friday evening the incoming freight crew on the W. M. & R. noticed sparks and smoke issuing from the south end of Oscar S. Riley's Clothing Factory, York street extended.

The alarm was immediately given and soon the Fire Company and many willing hands were on the scene rendering what help they could. The fire was soon under control soon after the water was turned on, but not before the building and its contents were considerably damaged.

Nothing is known as to the origin of the fire except that it started on the 3rd floor, south end. Everything seemed to be in perfect order when the hands stopped work at 6 o'clock.

Mr. Riley had on hand about 1,500 pieces of stockings and about $2,000 worth of stock, of which about 200 dozen were spoiled by the water, and about 500 lbs. of yarn damaged. These, along with about 500 dozen missing and the damage to the machinery, will make his loss about $4,000, wholly covered by insurance in the Agricultural Insurance and the Boston Insurance Companies.

The building belongs to the Gettysburg Development Co. It is damaged to the extent of $125, insured in the Netherlands Insurance Company. Martin Winter is agent for all three companies.

Work at the Factory began again this morning.
